LOPEZ DE HEREDIA RIOJA

For the past 120 years, four generations of the López de Heredia family have produced world-class wines according to family traditions. "We're proud of not changing," says Maria Jose Lopez de Heredia, who manages this legendary bodega. Their Riojas often age 12 years or more in barrel and bottle before release. The long aging process transforms the flavors & aromas into wines that are superbly elegant, complex and harmonious.

1998 Rioja Blanco “Vina Gravonia” (white) An impressively complex bouquet evokes ripe pear, peach, floral honey, and hazelnut. Weighty and ripe but fresh, showing deep, focused orchard fruit qualities and undercurrents of stone and toasted nuts. Striking for its depth, energy and sappiness.”

2002 Rioja “Vina Cubillo” (red) “Woodsy, earthy scents of dried cherry, strawberry, and bitter rhubarb. Light, silky and tangy, the hint of white pepper perks up the dried red fruit flavors. Finishes taut and racy, zesty with good length. Classic old-school Rioja!”
